

PORT NOLA
THE PORT OF NEW ORLEANS

CRUISE

ENJOY THE GETAWAY OF A LIFETIME. THEN TAKE A FANTASTIC CRUISE.

New Orleans is the city of jazz and jambalaya, Mardi Gras and masked celebrations. There's a reason why more and more passengers choose to launch their cruise vacations from this unique city.

As we navigate the COVID-19 impacts as an entire cruise industry, Port NOLA remains ready and able to adapt and work with our cruise line partners to continue to provide sailings from our world-class destination. New Orleans is the sixth largest cruise port in the United States, and demand for cruising from the Big Easy is growing for both Caribbean and river itineraries. Port NOLA has topped one million cruise passenger movements annually for the past six years, breaking its own record each time.

The Port of New Orleans' two state-of-the-art cruise terminals with secured parking are located in the heart of the city near the historic French Quarter, family attractions, shopping, dining and hotels. Erato Street Cruise Terminal offers more than 1,000 parking spots within the terminal, while the Julia Street Cruise Terminal, right next door to Erato, offers secured parking adjacent to the terminal.

Discover why cruising from New Orleans is like taking two vacations in one!

Port of New Orleans Cruise At-A-Glance:

- Two cruise terminals – Julia Street and Erato Street – with ample, secure parking available.
- Carnival and Norwegian sail weekly to destinations in the Eastern and Western Caribbean and Bahamas, and Royal Caribbean International returned in January 2020 with year round weekly sailings. Disney Cruise Line sailed six cruises in 2020 from New Orleans and is set to sail a second season in 2021.
- Riverine cruises are a growing sector at Port NOLA. American Queen Steamboat Company and American Cruise Lines offer cruises along the Mississippi River into America's Heartland.
